THEY DID FIRE.

Authentic Account of the Brush Between Benham and Da Gama.

The Brazilian Rebel Tried to Bluff the American Admiral.

BUT HE WAS WARNED: "IF YOU FIRE AGAIN I WILL SINK YOU."

A Few Harmless Shots Exchanged With Muskets and Small Cannon—The Insurgent Leader Then Silenced His Guns—Admiral Benham's Report of the Incident to Secretary Herbert—Da Gama Not a Pirate.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Secretary Herbert to-day gave out the following cable dispatch received from Admiral Benham on Tuesday:

To the Secretary of the Navy, Washington: Rio, Jan. 29.—Two American merchant vessels Saturday were prevented from going alongside the wharf. To-day at 8 a.m. I sent the Detroit to take position that would protect the vessels going alongside the wharf, and if fired upon to return the fire. My vessels got under way and stood for action. The Detroit took a position, a boat from one vessel running a line preparatory to haul in was fired upon with muskets from an insurgent ship. The Detroit returned the fire with a one-pounder; the shot striking under her bow. The insurgents fired a broadside to leeward. Later, the insurgents fired a broadside over the American merchant vessel. The Detroit returned the fire with muskets, striking the insurgent's stern-post. Passing by the insurgents he was haled saying, "If you fire again I will return your fire, and if necessary will sink you."

"The Detroit anchored so as to command both vessels, one merchant vessel having been carried to a new position near the wharf and the tug having offered her services gratuitously to discharge the cargo. The insurgent leader was notified that these vessels would discharge from the present position, but that my determination was not changed—to give American merchant vessels full protection to the wharf if they desired to go."

"BENHAM'S COURSE INDORSED."

Secretary Gresham has received a dispatch from Minister Thompson at Rio de Janeiro confirming the details of Admiral Benham's encounter with the insurgents. Minister Thompson's dispatch follows:

"Benham has not interfered in the least with military or naval operations of either side, nor is it his intention to do so. He has duty to protect Americans and the commerce of the United States and this he intends to do and such American results must not be interfered with in their moment of trial. The take the consequences when getting the line of fire, where legions are.... Until belligerent rights are accorded, the insurgents have no right to exercise.... Right of insurgents to search neutral vessels or to seize any portion of their cargoes, is denied. Attempted blockade is as far as I am advised. THOMPSON."

Secretary Herbert to-day sent the following cable to Admiral Benham:

"Further information received from United States Minister. We are satisfied entirely with the guidance and judgment with which you have conducted your operations in the protection of American commerce. Rely upon you for continued exercise of wise discretion."

DA GAMA NOT A PIRATE.

Speaking of the incident as it has been reported through the press dispatches from Rio, a State Department official said to-day: "If the exchange of shots took place as reported, Admiral Benham pursued the right course. He is justified in protecting all vessels carrying the American flag from the fire of Da Gama's ships, because the Brazilian insurgents have not been accorded belligerent rights by any nation, and Da Gama has not, under the most liberal interpretation of international law, the slightest warrant to interfere in any way with the commercial ships of other nations entering the harbor of Rio."

"There is no evidence to show that either either Admiral Benham or Admiral Da Gama made an attempt to interfere with the trade of neutrals. This interference with the trade of neutrals would not be tolerated by any foreign nation."

"Da Gama is merely at the head of a revolt against the existing Government of Brazil, and his status is that of the leader of a revolt seeking to bring about some change in the government of his country. If while conducting his hostile movement against Peixoto he interfered with the merchant ships of other nations, he, in effect, commits an act of war and must expect the warship of the offended power to take prompt steps to repress the wrong."

"The idea advanced in some quarters, that upon the intervention of President Peixoto that Da Gama and Melo are pirates, it may be stated on high authority, is absurd."

"Neither of the Brazilian rebel admirals has committed any act of piracy. A pirate is one who preys upon the commerce of all nations, or rather he is the respecter of no flag. The Brazilian insurgents have not been accorded belligerent rights by any nation, and if taken prisoners would be treated as pirates, even by the established Government of Brazil."

"Da Gama surrendered to Admiral Benham or seek refuge on board any American vessel, her commander must grant him asylum and safe conduct to some neutral territory."

Reported Fall of Nichcheroy.

Buenos Ayres, Feb. 1.—It is reported here that the town of Nichcheroy, which has long been the object of the main attack upon the part of the rebels who have occupied the city, was taken by the rebels. The truth of this report is obtainable as this is sent. But it is rumored here for some time past that the insurgents had taken it. Nichcheroy, it is reported, has joined issue with the rebels. The rebels are now in the interior, about 100 miles distant from the Brazilian capital.

Fired on the German Flag.

MONTYVIDEO, Uruguay, Feb. 1.—A launch firing the German flag, was fired upon by the rebels. The rebel commander was warned that if the act was repeated his ship would be sunk. One of the rebels is a German man-of-war Arcoone, captain of the Arcoone, who is in the service of the rebels. It is thought that the English commander will be compelled to take the Arcoone into the harbor. The rebels failed to force a landing at Arcoone.

About 400 rubs between the United States cruiser Detroit and the rebel warship are these. The rebel boat drew upon the Detroit, and the Detroit fired upon the first a blank cartridge in return and then a rifle shot. Saldanha Da Gama was then shaken by a gun upon dry land.

Ships are coming to the wharves day without interference from the rebels, who says he only yielded the point to superior force.

ARRESTED IN COURT.

L. L. L. Lundberg Mentions a Witness as a Man Who Robbed Him.

This morning an arrest was made in the Court of Criminal Correction in a rather funny way. Dennis Collins was on trial on the charge of highway robbery. F. L. Lundberg of 1816 Market street was the defendant. On Jan. 6, last, he was held up and robbed by two men who took $6 from him. This morning the case of Collins was called, and the defendant insisted on his witness, Joe Moore, being brought in. Moore had been subpoenaed, but he was not present. An attorney was then called and issued a subpoena for him, and when Deputy Sheriff Geine, brought him into court the prosecutor, Lundberg, identified Moore as the other man who, with Collins, had robbed him. Moore was then placed in the cage and a warrant charging him with robbery in the first degree was issued against him. Collin was given a hearing and was bound over to the Grand Jury by Judge Clatburn.

High School Appointments Made During His Absence.

At last Monday's meeting of the Teachers Committee of the school Board five important appointments were made, which the Secretary, Mr. Teutenberg, by accident or design, neglected to record in the official published report of the proceedings. These five appointments were to places in the High School. The persons were Messrs. Gerry Barnes and Frederick Woodruff; Misses Annie Wainright, head assistant at the Hough School; Fannie L. L. Lundberg, second assistant at the Blair School. These appointments were made without the knowledge of the Teachers Committee, probably to secure a position for the first year. The new appointments, however, were made with the knowledge of the committee, and the new teacher was appointed to the High School.

JOHN SHERMAN is still the most con-

financial policy.

DOES the President expect the Hawaiian Imbroglio to be settled by a fight between Dole and Willis?

REMINISCENT remarks in some newspapers remind us that there was a Hawaiian question.

THE income tax has been added to the Wilson bill by a big vote. The Democracy "move do."

THE hitch in the Grand-jury investigation of the Butler case shows that the expected sometimes happens.

NO IMPECUNIOUS titled foreigner is going to neglect an American heiress because she will have to pay an income tax.

MR. PECKHAM is a good lawyer, and will probably make a good judge, but he should not allow James J. Hill to get a grip on his gratitude.

IF the Council really wants to find the cause of the city's financial embarrassment it should look into the source of the city's income—the collection of taxes.

NO MATTER what laws Congress may pass with reference to whisky the Whisky
Trust is not without good hope of relief.
Atty.-Gen. Olney was once its attorney.

BOURKE COCKRAN will probably find it hard to recover from his absurd income tax tirade. Public men cannot make themselves ridiculous without paying the penalty.

MR. COCKRAN almost insinuates that we might have a Bonaparte in this country.
Not Mr. McKinley already our Napoleon?

THE New York bankers are treating the question of a bond issue from the usual standpoint of great practical financiers;
that is, they are trying to get the bonds as cheaply as possible.

WHAT will the Administration do when the proceeds of the present bond sale are all gone—gone out of the Treasury back to the vaults of the New York banks? Will more bonds be issued?

IF William Bourke Cockran had undertaken to speak in favor of the income tax
he would have had the materials for a speech that would have been immediately
in demand all over the country.

PRESIDENT DOLE has submitted thirty specifications of his charges against Minister Willis. The fact that he has brought any is sufficient cause for the Minister's recall, whether they are true or not.

THE Wilson bill with the income tax as a part of it goes through the House today. The real fight will come in the Senate, where special interests are more ably represented than at the other end of the Capitol.

A BILL giving married women the right to control their separate estates the same as female soles has passed the Kentucky
House of Representatives by a vote of 79 to 12. Who is more gallant or more just than the Kentucky Colonels?

ATTY.-GEN. OLNEY is going to appeal the case against the Sugar Trust to the Supreme Court. What kind of an argument will he make in reply to the one he furnished opposing counsel when the case was tried in the Circuit Court?

WOULD it not be wiser and juster for Judge Dundy to order the repudiation of some of the flat stock and debt of the Union Pacific before he orders a reduction of wages? If he is to set up as an autocrat
he should be impartial in his despotism.

IF James J. Hill, the great railway financier of the Northwest, is in Washington for the purpose of helping along the confirmation of Mr. Peckham, he should have kept the fact quiet. Men of Mr. Hill's stamp have already too many friends on the bench.

WHEN Mr. Outhwaite declared in Congress yesterday that there was enough whisky on hand to last three years, Mr.
Caruth of Kentucky challenged the statement. If a Kentucky Congressman doesn't know just how long a given quantity of the product of his State will last, who does? Mr. Outhwaite was inexorably presumptuous.

BOURKE COCKRAN says that the French revolution was brought about by taxing the productive masses into bankruptcy. True enough. If the French Government had been wise enough to tax the income tax levied upon the rich or common sense.
